Executive Summary

ShadowTrace conducted a full digital forensic investigation into suspected unauthorized web activity and anti-forensics behavior within an enterprise environment. The investigation analyzed network traffic logs, browser artifacts, and system-level indicators across three independent detection modules. A total of 29 alerts were identified, of which 21 are HIGH severity and 8 are MEDIUM severity. Evidence strongly suggests deliberate use of anonymization tools and active attempts to conceal investigative traces.

Conclusion

The ShadowTrace investigation successfully identified and documented evidence of unauthorized web activity and deliberate anti-forensics behavior. The combination of TOR/VPN usage, large data transfers during after-hours periods, cleared browser history, and the presence of evidence-wiping tools presents a comprehensive and compelling forensic case. All findings have been preserved in structured JSON reports and this PDF document for use in further proceedings.
